Mrs. Sid Henry Telephone 321

The white stars walk upon the hill,
And all the world is strangely still.
Upon the pale face of the moon,
Save for a little haunting tune,
Then suddenly bright Jack-o'-lanterns
burn,
Where black goblins dance amid the
fern,
And witches on their broomstick
steeds
Rise from the shadows of the weeds.
Pat pumpkins wink their "flaming"
eyes
And watch, in open-mouthed surprise
The gray ghosts that around them stalk.
While cats and dogs and cattle talk.
In garden ways, where roses grow,
A white owl calls, "Tu-who! Tu-who!"
Then, tired of play, we go to bed
And bravely cover up our head.

where Mullens made a long end run for the touchdown. Again Texarkana kicked to Hope, but as Hope had been making most of her gains through the air and it was too dark to pass, Sissell kicked to Mullins who ran around the entire Hope team for the last touchdown of the game. After the long conference of the last quarter the Hope players could not get warmed up and did not exhibit much of the fighting spirit that had held the heavier Porkers to one lone tally. Late in the second quarter Hope pushed the ball down to the Porkers three-yard line but lacked the punch to put it over, and before the Texarkana team could punt the half ended. Rowe and Brown played consistent games in the Hope backfield and Hargis played a stellar game on the defense. Pritchett, Sissell and Jacks played real football in the line, many times throwing the Texarkana backfield men for losses.

Of special interest to the delegates from the Pat Cleburne chapter at the U. D. C. state meeting recently held in Little Rock was the giving of the invocation at the luncheon on Wednesday at the Marion hotel by the Rev. John P. Lowry, 84 years of age. Rev. Lowry entered the Confederate army from Washington, later moving to Hope where he was engaged in newspaper work. He was a valuable citizen to Hope in his younger days.

As chairmen of the World war veterans committee he has sponsored much legislation that has been written on the statute books to aid disabled veterans.

CHARLEY DRAPER

machine gun cartridges and a set of blacksmith tools were found by officers in the woods near where the bodies were found Friday afternoon. Sheriff Holman is working on a new theory that the murderer accompanied Chappell on the truck through Idabel en route to the spot near Ultimathule where he and his companion were slain. The sheriff asserted the had found five witnesses who substantiated his theory.

Two men operating a filling station at Broken Bow told the sheriff, he said, that they saw Chappell there on the day of the killings and traded him gasoline for wheat carried on the truck. The witnesses said two men were riding in the front seat and that a third was sitting on top of the load of wheat.

Attorney Explains Stand

County Attorney L. E. Mifflin, who refused Thursday to assist P. A. Ayers, father of Noble, in obtaining a permit from Judge George T. Arnett to exhume the body of the unidentified victim, issued a statement Friday explaining his reason for the refusal and scoring newspaper accounts carrying the beliefs of numerous Arkansas and Oklahoma persons concerning the possibility of the dead boy being Ayres.

"If the body of this unidentified man is exhumed, it will be done by R. D. Mifflin, health officer, and C. A. Hess, Idabel dentist, and not by doctors employed by newspapers as I am prosecuting attorney," Mifflin said.

Despite this statement of the county attorney, newspaper reporters accompanied by Sheriff R. W. Turquette of Miller county, Sheriff Jim Sanderson of Little River county and M. A. Blanchard, Texarkana, dentist, to Idabel Friday afternoon, obtaining permission from the district judge and exhuming the body.

The county attorney was not at Idabel however, having gone to a football game at Paris, Texas.

W. H. Ray, county clerk at Idabel, explained to the officers and to Ayres upon their arrival at the courthouse at Idabel that he felt certain that district judge would be glad to grant the permission to open the grave. This permission was granted instantly by the judge.

"It is a reflection on the county to have a thing like this happen within its boundaries and a double reflection to have its attorney take the attitude of Mr. Mifflin," Ray told Sheriff Turquette.

South Dakota Lawmaker "Tired of Public Life"

WASHINGTON. (P)—Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, is one congressman who is "tired of public life."

When he retires March 4, 1933, he will have been in public life for more than half of his 51 years, 16 of them as representative from the second district.

Johnson was one of the three representatives who enlisted during the World war. Besides seeking a lot of front line action, he was wounded severely and decorated with the distinguished service cross and the croix de guerre.

Government Will Seize Farm Lands

Places Where Stills Operated Ordered Seized Under Old Statute

PEORIA, Ill. (P)—What is said to be the government's first confiscation of farm lands on which the national prohibition act had been violated was revealed here Thursday with the announcement that Federal Judge Louis Fitzhugh has ordered seizure of more than 20 acres in Putnam and Bureau counties, where prohibition agents found two stills in 1930.

D. C. Yellowley, federal district administrator, said the proceedings opened a new avenue of attack for prohibition enforcers and were based on a 67-year-old statute directed at operation of illegal distilleries.

Twenty acres of Joseph Engelhaupt's 520-acre farm in Putnam county and 1.87 acres of Elmer F. Flaherty's 208-acre farm in Bureau county will be held by the government. Rights of persons holding mortgages will be respected. Neither of the two farmers was convicted of liquor law violation. Yellowley said the statute was invoked against them because the stills on their properties were of such size that they must have known of their existence.

The distilleries statute allows seizures, he said, of all property used in connection with the operation of a still, all rights, titles or interests of the distiller in the lot or plot of ground in such property of any person who knowingly permits operation of an unregistered still.

Both plots ordered seized were fenced off from the rest of the farms. Several persons found operating the stills have been convicted.

An Arkansas woman's eleventh husband has left her. Another evidence that optimism is waning.

A speaker says Americans' faces reveal insanity. Nope! Hay fever. Or, maybe it really ain't going to rain no more out there.

Sunny literature is coming back. Sounds like California propaganda.
